

Leslie Bravo Chew

---

Teaching areas:
International Business

---

Email:
lbravo@nebrija.es

---

She holds a Master's Degree in Industrial Economics from Universidad Carlos III de Madrid and a Degree in Economics from the Instituto Tecnológico Autónomo de México. Her dissertations deal with the analysis of "Price Regulation in Processes of Price Regulation in Liberalization Processes: An Application to the Postal Sector" and "Anticompetitive Practices" and "Anticompetitive Practices: An application to the telecommunications market", respectively.

She has worked as a teaching assistant in the areas of Market Globalization and Economic Environment at the Cerro at the International Business School Cerem and in the areas of Microeconomics and Macroeconomics at the International Business School and Macroeconomics at the Instituto Tecnológico Autónomo de México.

As for her professional experience, she has worked as a consultant in the area of Applied and Territorial Economics and as an economist specializing in Tourism and Foreign Trade.

She has published in the 15th issue of the Revista de Economía Institucional Economics Magazine, "Cross Subsidies: The Case of the Postal Sector" and in the magazine Empresa Global published by AFI-Ediciones.